Overview

Mediation and moderation are central in social and behavioral science research. Mediation explains and tests the underlying mechanisms by which the predictor variable affects the outcome variable, while moderation specifies under what conditions the predictor affects the outcome. Statistical techniques investigating mediation and moderation are among the most widely used data analysis techniques in a variety of disciplines. The primary goal of this course is to provide students with theoretical concepts of mediation and moderation and hands-on experience with relevant analytical techniques.

Classes will be structured as a combination of lectures and computer lab sessions. Theoretical and conceptual basics will be covered in the lectures, and students will have hands-on experience with computer programming using SPSS through the computer sessions, as well as homework assignments so that they can formulate research questions, choose appropriate models, and draw appropriate conclusions based on the data analysis.

Instructional materials for this course consist of only those materials specifically reviewed, selected, and assigned by the instructor. The instructor is only responsible for these instructional materials.

Evaluation

- Exam (30%): There will be one take-home midterm exam, which will be open book and handouts. You can use textbooks and handouts for the exam, but no internet search. The midterm exam will be distributed on March 10 (Monday) and should be turned in by 5 pm on March 12 (Wednesday). There will be no final exam.
- Homework Assignments (25%): There will be approximately 4 homework assignments. Each homework assignment will involve data analysis, writing up the results, and answering questions regarding the conceptual issues. Data will be provided for each assignment.
- Final Research Project (30%): You are required to develop a research project. The project can be on any topic you are interested in, and you can use your own data set; however, one of the analytical techniques taught in this course should be used for data analysis. The project can be a new project or a modified version of a previous study (e.g., reanalyzing the data using different methods). Merely replicating a completed study or a study in progress is not acceptable.
 You should turn in a 2 – 3 page outline of your project by March 5th (Week 8). This outline should include the title, research questions you want to address, a brief background of the research topic, and a brief description of analytic plans. If the project involves reanalyzing the data, you should clearly describe the differences between the previous and the current studies. The project will be presented in class on April 21st & 23rd. Your presentation (approximately 25 minutes) must include (a) Introduction (brief); (b) Method (detailed, mainly focusing on analysis overview); (c) Results (detailed); and (d) Discussion (brief). Detailed attention should be paid to how to report the results and interpret the findings. Presentation slides should be turned in by 9 am on April 21st via e-mail. If you want to turn in modified slides after incorporating the comments during your presentation, turn them in by 5 pm on April 28th (Monday).
- Attendance and Participation (15%): You are responsible for coming to class on time and participating regularly. Per University of Florida policy, excused absences include medical appointments and illness (with doctor's note), deaths in the family (with documentation), and school events (with documentation on school letterhead). Additional absences require documentation of medical excuses or extenuating circumstances and must be submitted within 1 week of the absence using the "Excused Absence Request Form" (located on the CANVAS course website).

Students with Special Learning Needs

Any student with verification of disabilities will be provided every reasonable accommodation in the appropriate manner to assist them in meeting the academic requirements of the course as expected of all students enrolled after registering with the Disability Resource Center (<https://disability.ufl.edu/get-started/>). The Dean of Students Office will provide documentation to the student who must then provide this documentation to the instructor when requesting accommodation. Please provide documentation to the instructor within the first two weeks of class. Such students should notify the instructor so that special arrangements can be made. If special needs/circumstances arise, you must notify me immediately, not at the course's end.

Grade adjustments

It is unethical and in direct violation of the UF Student Honor Code to request an unjustifiable grade adjustment (UF Student Honor Code: "Conspiracy to Commit Academic Dishonesty"). Under no circumstances will I ever 'round up' a student's grade (89.9% is a B+), nor will I offer extra credit. Additionally, I only discuss grades face-to-face (never via email or phone) to protect student privacy. If a grade input error occurs, students are strongly encouraged to notify me as soon as possible. If an error occurred, the grade will be adjusted. Note: Students have 1 week to contest a grade from the date the grade is posted on Canvas. After the 7 days have passed, students waive their right to contest the grade.

Online Course Evaluation Process

Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course based on 10 criteria. These evaluations are conducted online at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu>. Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semester, but students will be given specific times when they are open.

Instructor Office Hours

Students are encouraged to visit their instructor during posted office hours, should questions or concerns arise during the semester. If you cannot make office hours, we can schedule an appointment outside the designated office hours. I am not, however, able to send or discuss grades or any other points via e-mail according to the department's and university's student privacy policy.

Academic Honesty

"The University of Florida requires all members of its community to be honest in all their endeavors. Students are required to commit themselves to academic honesty by signing a prescribed basic statement, including the Student Honor Code, as part of the registration process. "As a member of the UF community, students pledge on their honor to neither give nor receive unauthorized aid while working or completing assignments and examinations. "Any individual who becomes aware of a violation of the Student Honor Code is bound by honor to take corrective action." Violations of the UF Academic Honesty Guidelines will not be tolerated and violators will be treated in accordance with the UF Student Honor Code. This includes ALL work! Students violating this policy will be sanctioned according to the Committee on Student Conduct and receive a grade penalty for the course or some other penalty for failure to abide by this standard of conduct.

Title IX

University of Florida has zero tolerance for sexual discrimination, harassment, assault/battery, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking. Students are encouraged to report any experienced or witnessed occurrences to law enforcement and/or one of UF's Title IX Coordinators. Students can report incidents or learn more about their rights and options by contacting Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution at 202 Peabody Hall, 352-392-1261; or visit:

Class Recording

Per the House Bill 233 Intellectual and Viewpoint Diversity Act, students are allowed to record video or audio of class lectures. However, the purposes for which these recordings may be used are strictly controlled. The only allowable purposes are (1) for personal educational use, (2) in connection with a complaint to the university, or (3) as evidence in, or in preparation for, a criminal or civil proceeding. All other purposes are prohibited. Specifically, students may not publish recorded lectures without the written consent of the instructor.

A "class lecture" is an educational presentation intended to inform or teach enrolled students about a particular subject, including any instructor-led discussions that form part of the presentation, and delivered by any instructor hired or appointed by the University, or by a guest instructor, as part of a University of Florida course. A class lecture does not include lab sessions, student presentations, clinical presentations such as patient history, academic exercises involving solely student participation, assessments (quizzes, tests, exams), field trips, private conversations between students in the class or between a student and the faculty or lecturer during a class session.

Publication without permission of the instructor is prohibited. To "publish" means to share, transmit, circulate, distribute, or provide access to a recording, regardless of format or medium, to another person (or persons), including but not limited to another student within the same class section. Additionally, a recording, or transcript of a recording, is considered published if it is posted on or uploaded to, in whole or in part, any media platform, including but not limited to social media, book, magazine, newspaper, leaflet, or third-party note/tutoring services. A student who publishes a recording without written consent may be subject to a civil cause of action instituted by a person injured by the publication and/or discipline under UF Regulation 4.040 Student Honor Code and Student Conduct Code.

Course Ground Rules

1. Respect each other's opinions and comments even though you may not agree. Each of you has a heritage, history, and variety of life experiences that influence how you see the world. We tend to attach labels, develop values, and express attitudes based on this diversity. It is this diversity, however, that makes us each unique and important. In this classroom, we will attempt to minimize the barriers associated with sensitive or controversial topics and maximize learning together in a trusting environment.
2. If you come in late or leave early, use the doors at the back of the classroom. Please leave the back row empty for those who enter after class has started. This is to alleviate any interruptions for both you and the instructors.
3. The use of electronic devices during class is permitted only for accessing class materials. Please do not use laptops, cell/smart phones, electronic tablets, etc., for surfing the internet, checking emails, or accessing materials irrelevant to this class.

4. Please do not begin packing up until you have been officially dismissed by the instructor. When a few people start to pack up it is distracting to the instructor and fellow students. Please be respectful and wait until the class is concluded.

5. Students are prohibited from unnecessary side conversations, sleeping, completing outside work, reading off topic materials (such as newspapers) while class is being conducted.
