Please share this information with your faculty --

UF faculty are doing amazing work to adapt their classes to online teaching. The Center for Teaching Excellence is setting up a faculty "Buddy" system. Experienced online instructors may volunteer to provide guidance to their fellow teachers.

- Sign up to help faculty with their online teaching
- Get help from an experienced online instructor (It will take a bit of time to populate this list –requires access from a UF Google Account)
- No UF Google Account? Or need help identifying a "buddy"? contact cte@aa.ufl.edu

The Center for Teaching Excellence will continue to offer our daily “Zoom-in” open consultation sessions to help instructors figure out how to translate their face-to-face teaching to online. We will continue to offer these sessions for as long as people find them to be helpful.

UFIT continues to offer online and walk-in support for help with Canvas, Zoom, and Honorlock. CITT is offering individual consultations with instructional designers. Email them to set up an appointment: citt@ufl.edu.

Many Thanks!
